Chapter 229: The Grand Armies of the Twelve Divine Beings

In the Absolute Realm Universe, where the Divine Triad reigned supreme, the multiverse's mightiest forces assembled under their command. The Twelve Divine Beings, united by purpose and power, each held dominion over legions of extraordinary troops. These armies were not merely forces of war but embodiments of divine will, ready to protect the multiverse from any threat.

Sung Jin-Woo, seated in his throne at the Umbra Citadel, observed the grand assembly through his All-Seeing Eyes. The vast expanse of his domain echoed with the presence of his forces, each meticulously organized and trained.

1. Apostles of God

The Apostles of God were the first creations born from Primordial Lights, angelic beings of unparalleled grace and power. With six radiant wings and divine auras, they were the ultimate messengers and warriors of light.

Role: Protectors of divine laws, emissaries of peace and justice.

Number: 1.8018 billion, growing steadily as they reproduced.

Abilities: Mastery over light-based magic, healing arts, and celestial combat.

2. Dark Apostles

The Dark Apostles were counterparts to the Apostles of God, born from Primordial Darkness. With two massive black wings, they radiated an aura of mystery and strength.

Role: Enforcers of balance, wielders of shadow and stealth.

Number: 2,002 trillion, spreading across countless realms.

Abilities: Command over darkness, illusion magic, and subterfuge.

---

3. Heavenly Soldiers

The Heavenly Soldiers were the fruits of the World Tree, blessed by divine energy. These noble warriors, with two to four wings, were the backbone of the Divine Armies.

Role: Guardians of the realms, steadfast warriors of justice.

Number: 18.018 quadrillion, unmatched in their discipline.

Abilities: Proficiency in both melee and ranged combat, supported by divine enhancements.

---

4. Shadowkins

Born from the lesser fruits of the World Tree, the Shadowkins were composed of High Humans, High Elves, and High Dwarves, all blessed with a second black heart.

Role: Builders, scholars, and strategists, as well as fierce warriors.

Number: 600.6 trillion, growing and thriving in their domains.

Abilities: Versatile talents, blending physical and magical prowess.

---

5. Dragonkins

The Dragonkins, born from the same lesser fruits of the World Tree, were divided into High Dragons, High Wyverns, High Wyrms, and High Drakes, each possessing a second dragon heart.

Role: Aerial combatants and dominators of the skies.

Number: 15.015 trillion, fearsome in their unity.

Abilities: Elemental breath attacks, aerial maneuvers, and unmatched resilience.

---

6. Shadow Lords

Materialized from Sung Jin-Woo’s shadow soldiers, the Shadow Lords were unparalleled in their loyalty and power. Each Shadow Lord commanded their own shadow world.

Role: Commanders of shadow armies, sovereigns of their domains.

Number: 44,444.0444 quintillion, encompassing untold realms.

Abilities: Command over millions to trillions of shadow soldiers, dark world manipulation.

---

7. Fiery Dragon Lords

Materialized from Sung Su-Ho’s fiery shadow soldiers, the Fiery Dragon Lords were embodiments of wrath and destruction.

Role: Lords of flame and shadow, devastating foes with fiery might.

Number: 6.006 billion, each a force of unparalleled destruction.

Abilities: Command over fiery shadow soldiers, mastery of fire and shadow fusion.

---

8. Centillions of Shadow Soldiers

Sung Jin-Woo’s creation of centillions of shadow soldiers was the ultimate demonstration of his power. These beings, though vast in number, acted as a single entity under his command.

Role: The multiverse's largest army, a force of sheer overwhelming power.

Number: Beyond counting, spanning the multiverse.

Abilities: Formidable combat skills, regeneration, and collective intelligence.

The Unity of Forces

As Sung Jin-Woo reflected on the strength of the armies under the Divine Triad’s command, he felt a deep sense of purpose. The Apostles of God, Dark Apostles, Heavenly Soldiers, Shadowkins, Dragonkins, Shadow Lords, Fiery Dragon Lords, and the Centillions of Shadow Soldiers were more than mere troops—they were the manifestation of divine harmony.

Each force played a critical role, ensuring the stability and prosperity of the multiverse. United, they were unstoppable, a testament to the Divine Triad’s wisdom and power.

“With these forces,” Sung Jin-Woo thought, “no threat can stand against us. The multiverse will remain safe, its light and shadow in perfect balance.”

And so, the armies stood ready, awaiting their next call to action, as the Divine Triad continued to shape the fate of existence itself.
